Interior Designer, Lauren Rosenberg, received a Bachelor of Science degree on the Dean's List from Arizona State University in Interior Architecture. She grew up in the interior design/retail industry, as her mother was one of the "pioneer" Interior Designers in the Valley. Lauren has enjoyed a long career as a practicing Interior Designer in San Francisco, Los Angeles, and Phoenix, and she is responsible for designing and managing the installation of over 3.2 million square feet of commercial and residential interior space. These projects ranged from residential; to model homes; to commercial projects such as big-box and small retail, corporate offices, office lobbies; to sets for stage, television, and film. In her career and on behalf of her clients, she has custom-designed furniture, fabrics, rugs, casework, lighting, window and wall treatments, and other interior features.
